

And Suddenly
A Short Poem by Amy Abrigo

And suddenly, I'm 12 years old and I'm snuggled up in the backseat of my mother's car, waiting for someone to find me. Waiting for someone to notice I'm gone. To care. To worry. Not believing that I could ever be missed by anyone. And it's cold. It's so cold.