

Sacramento, California- February 24, 2020: Mai Vang, District 8 candidate for Sacramento City Council, poses for a portrait in her living room. If elected Mai Vang will be the first Hmong woman and the first millennial to hold a seat on Sacramento City Council. She would also be the 14th woman since 1850 to serve on the Sacramento City Council.

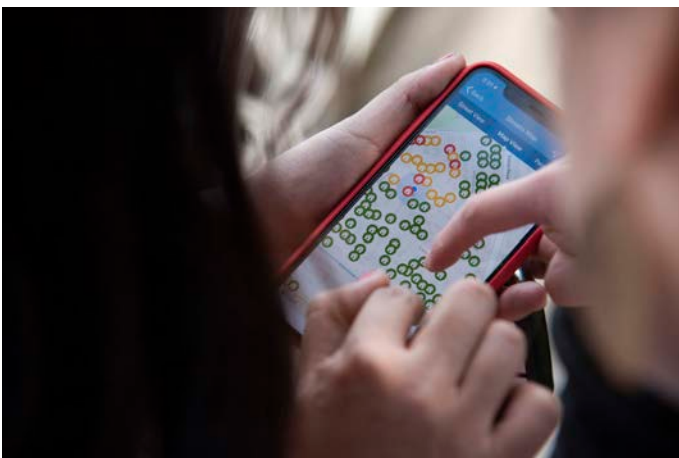

Sacramento, California- January 04, 2020: Mai Vang, District 8 candidate takes a selfie with Denver Piggee while canvassing.

Sacramento, California- January 04, 2020: Mai Vang, District 8 candidate for Sacramento City Council, canvasses with current District 8 city council member Larry Carr.

Sacramento, California- January 04, 2020: Mai Vang and Kao Ye Thao plan out their route for canvassing in the Parkway neighborhood.

Sacramento, California- January 04, 2020: Mai Vang and Kao Ye Thao use the PDI app to plan out which voters to canvass.

Sacramento, Calif.- January 8, 2020: Mai Vang, speaks at a candidates forum hosted by the Sacramento Women and Girls Advancement Coalition.

Sacramento, California- January 04, 2020: Mai Vang chats with members of the 2020 Miss Hmong royal court who turned out to volunteer at her campaign kickoff.

Sacramento, California- February 13, 2020: Mai Vang has dinner with her parents, siblings, and campaign manager after attending the candidates forum hosted by the Sacramento NAACP.

Sacramento, California- February 24, 2020: Mai Vang live streams to supporters during a phone banking night at her home.

Sacramento, California- February 24, 2020: Mai Vang tallies yes votes from phone banking calls to constituents a week before the primary election. As of the March 3 primary, Mai Vang is leading the District 8 race with 47% of the votes. Candidates require at least 51% of the votes to take the seat, so she will advance to a runoff between the top two candidates in November.

Sacramento, California- January 20, 2020: Katie Valenzuela, District 4 candidate for Sacramento City Council, speaks with a constituent while canvassing in Land Park.

Sacramento, California- January 20, 2020: Katie Valenzuela straightens out a lawn sign that had fallen over while out canvassing in Land Park.

Sacramento, Calif.- January 11, 2020: Katie Valenzuela, District 4 candidate for Sacramento City Council, meets constituents at a meet and greet event hosted at Luna's Cafe on 16th Street in Sacramento, Calif.

Sacramento, Calif.- January 11, 2020: Katie Valenzuela chats with Kelley Woodward at a meet and greet hosted at Luna's Cafe.

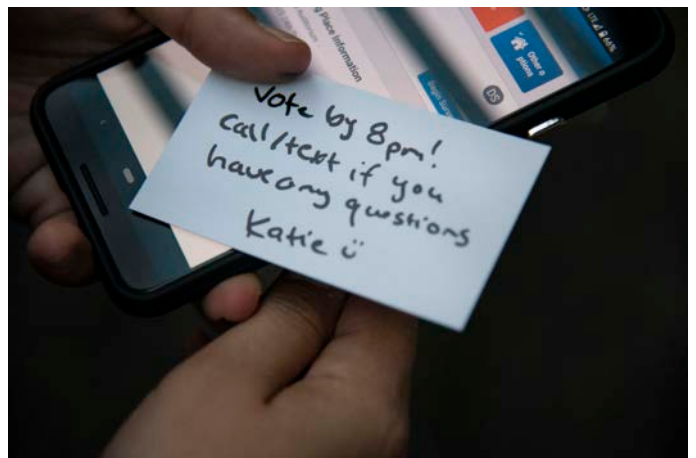

Sacramento, California- February 5, 2020: Katie Valenzuela, District 4 candidate for city council, debates current District 4 City Councilman Steve Hansen, at McClatchy High School.

Sacramento, California- February 5, 2020: Katie Valenzuela, District 4 candidate for city council, debates current District 4 City Councilman Steve Hansen, at McClatchy High School.

Sacramento, California- February 12, 2020: Katie Valenzuela speaks with Stevante Clark at the Meet and Greet with District 4 candidates hosted by the Midtown Neighborhood Association. Stevante Clark is the brother of Stephon Clark, who was shot and killed in 2018 in Meadowview, Sacramento, California by two officers of the Sacramento Police Department in the backyard of his grandmother's house while he had a phone in his hand.

Sacramento, California- March 3, 2020: Katie Valenzuela canvasses through the early evening on election day, encouraging folks to vote before the polls close at 8pm.

Sacramento, California- March 3, 2020: Katie Valenzuela speaks to potential voter Matthew Allbaugh during her last shift of canvassing in the early evening on election day.

Sacramento, California- March 3, 2020: Katie Valenzuela and volunteers take a selfie before their last shift of canvassing on election day.

Sacramento, California- March 3, 2020: Lise Valenzuela reacts to news that her daughter Katie Valenzuela holds the lead in early results for the 2020 Sacramento City Council race for District 4 during Valenzuela's election night celebration at Vallejo's Restaurant.

Sacramento, California- March 3, 2020: Katie Valenzuela celebrates with family and supporters during her election night party at Vallejo's Restaurant. Early results showed she held over 51% of the votes in the 2020 Sacramento City Council race for District 4. As of March 12, Katie Valenzuela maintained a 53% lead over the incumbent Councilman Steve Hansen. Katie Valenzuela will become the 13th woman since 1850 to serve on the Sacramento City Council.