Bio:

Practitioner of guitar for 15 years, I am a mostly self-taught musician. Throughout my music journey I have taught myself to compose electronic music, record, perform live and release my own music on streaming services. My goal is to go full time with my craft since it is a passion I have pursued since I first picked up a guitar.

Associates

Along with working independently, I have gradually become acquainted with other local San Antonio Artists and producers. I have high hopes to collaborate further with others to not only advance my own career but also make San Antonio have a truly unique music sound that can eventually become iconic to this already historic city.
