We had the good fortune of connecting with Frank Weysos and we've shared our conversation below.

Hi Frank, how do you think about risk? Risks are awesome. I mean, I know that's sort of a silly thing to say, but I really do think that taking risks is super important because it'll always show you what you're made of. You're always gonna think and act differently when your ass is on the line and that's all there is to it. You're gonna move swiftly and you're gonna act boldly. Taking risks is a crucial part of anyone's journey... you gotta take a chance!

Alright, so let's move onto what keeps you busy professionally?

I'm really excited about directing my first feature film this year. It's a big deal for me cause it's just been a long time coming and it's the goal that basically started my whole journey. I'm proud to have directed the dozens of music videos I've made with my team and I'm so grateful for that whole experience because it really was my film school...but I'm just looking forward to making the pivot over to directing feature films. I've spent the last couple of years developing ideas, writing scripts and filming proof of concepts, and now it's time to see these stories come to life.
