By Diamond LaRae

And even if all we did today was survive;

Even if there were no rainbows to find the ends of

No looking glass to fall through

No magic carpets to ride off on

No adventures to pursue

Even if all we did was breathe

Even if all our hearts did was beat

Even if the only miracle

Was that we kept going

To see another day,

Remember

What a treasure time is

Even if all we did

Was waste it

Even if all we have

Is the opportunity

To try again tomorrow
